Inhabitants of Mexico City Like Wilson's Stand Expressed in Speech at Mobile

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 28.—General Felix Diaz today was under American protection on the United States gunboat Wheeling. Diaz applied for protection to Consul Canada during the night, following the arrest by Mexican police of L. Blum, an American, who accompanied Diaz from Havana and has been with him since he arrived in Vera Cruz.

Cecelia Ocon and Jose Sandoval, friends of Diaz, and Alexander Williams, a newspaper man, also asked for protection and were put upon the Wheeling.

John Lind, President Wilson's special envoy in Mexico, today was making an investigation of Sunday's election and will make a report to Washington.

Antonio Villavicenzio, chief of the secret police of Vera Cruz, today said that he had telegraphed to General Huerta at Mexico City a full account of how General Felix Diaz at 1 o'clock last night escaped from the German hotel to the American consulate by clambering over the roofs, which adjoin. The officer said that he had positive proof that Diaz entered the consulate in this manner and remained for a long time and earnest conference with Consul Canada.

Unity of Interest Planned

BY JOHN EDWIN NEVIN
(Staff Correspondent of the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Unity of interest for all nations of the western hemisphere is planned by President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan. By that means they they hope to avoid in the future the frequent uprisings and revolutions which for nearly a century have kept Central and South America in a turmoil. To bring it about every vestige of "dollar diplomacy" is to be wiped out. The Monroe doctrine is

Powers Won't Interfere

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—It was officially announced by Secretary of State Bryan this afternoon, that Germany, France and Great Britain have agreed to defer all action in Mexican affairs pending an official announcement of this government's policy. The request that the powers defer all action was made to the three governments, and it was agreed by them that until the United States has outlined a definite policy, they will take no steps to muddle the situation.

CAN'T COMPEL USE OF THE UNION LABEL

Attorney General Rules that County Board May Not Demand It on All Printing

DECIDES WHO ARE "OFFICIALS"

County Physician and Others Are Not "Employes" and Do Not Come Under Compensation Act

A county board has no legal right to pass a resolution directing all county printing to bear the union label. This is the effect of an opinion rendered by Attorney General Owen to D. S. Law, district attorney of La Crosse county. The La Crosse county board considered a resolution at its last meeting providing that all county printing, job or otherwise, should bear the union label.

"The courts that have passed upon the question or one similar to it, have, without exception, come to the conclusion that such a resolution may not be passed by a municipality," says the opinion. Several leading cases are then cited to substantiate that view.

"Under the authorities I am constrained to hold that no county board has the right to pass the resolution," concludes the opinion, "as it is an unlawful restriction and in conflict with the statutory requirements that the proceedings of the county board be printed by the lowest bidder.

In another opinion to District Attorney Law, Mr. Owen holds that a county physician, superintendent of the poor, highway commission of a county, trustees of a county asylum or turnkey are officials and not employes within the meaning of the statute and these positions are not subject to the terms of the workmen's compensation act. Only employes of the county are subject to the act.

MURDER THREATS LAID TO TIGER

Sulzer Alleges Stilwell in Sing Sing Was Put in Fear of Life

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Threats of murder if he "peached" on Tammany members of New York's legislature and on Chief Murphy of Tammany hall, according to a statement by Former Governor Sulzer here today, is all that prevents a complete expose of legislative corruption in this state by Former Senator Stephen J. Stilwell, now in Sing Sing convicted of soliciting a bribe.

Sulzer as part of the red-hot New York election fight today gave out an autograph letter from Stilwell asking him for pardon in which Stilwell wrote:

"I have been promised by the agents of the dominant power, my early release. Word was sent me before the recent political agitation that the governor would be impeached and my prompt release would follow."

Stilwell, Sulzer said today, offered a full and free confession implicating many members of the legislature if he were pardoned. Sulzer said he refused pardon unless the confession came first. Then, said Sulzer: "Several times in the latter part of August and the first part of September, friends of Stilwell came to see me. They had talked with him in the prison and told me what Stilwell was willing to tell about graft and grafters in Albany. These people told me that Stilwell was afraid to confess in Sing Sing for fear of assassination. They went into many details about him. Stilwell, it seems, had been warned by the underworld that if he peached, he would never get out of prison alive."

TRIBUNE'S STORY A SENSATION IN THE STOCK YARDS

Society of Equity Co-operative Packing Plant Plan Stirs Up the Packers Today

DROVERS' JOURNAL ON THE JOB

Wants to Know Exactly What Andrew Boyd Said About Artificial Price Control

RECORD-HERALD DISCUSSES PLAN

Famous Correspondent Quotes Letter Writer Who Points to Carnahan Idea as Success

The American Society of Equity's plan to either build a big packing plant here, or take over and enlarge and operate the Langdon & Boyd plant, as the first step in their proposal to establish a system of co-operative plants throughout the country on the lines of the co-opertive creameries with which they have been so successful, has come into the limelight and is monopolizing the attention of packers and farmers.

In a front page, heavily headed article in the Chicago Record-Herald today Arthur M. Evans, the Record-Herald's famous correspondent, who has succeeded the late William E. Curtiss, quotes a Janesville correspondent of unknown name who writes upon the cost-of-living problems, as follows:

Sees its Success

"I attach a clipping I cut from a Milwaukee newspaper the other day, and hope you will publish it, even though you should not any of the rest of this. . . . It may be a solution to the problem of giving the farmer a chance, also of reducing the price of meat to the customer:

"'La Crosse, Wis.—The beef trust is to have serious competition in the form of huge packing plants operated in all states where the Society of Equity is strong enough to swing them, according to J. H. Carnahan, Eau Claire, vice president and organizer of the Wisconsin branch. Mr. Carnahan is on the committee of the national society to report on the plan, and he says the report will be favorable. He asserts the Wisconsin branch will ratify a plan at its December convention here to build the first of these plants, costing $250,000, in La Crosse to compete for Wisconsin business.'

"I think myself just such institutions as these will be established, and will be competitors to the beef trust. They are not only going to be established in this line, but in all lines. By combined effort more can be accomplished than by single effort."

Seek Information

Illustrative of the interest taken in meat and stock farming circles is the fact that the Chicago Drovers' Journal, the stock yard organ, made diligent inquiry in La Crosse today about the plan, and particularly about the extent of the exposure of packers' methods of controlling prices made by Mr. Andrew Boyd in an interview in the La Crosse Tribune last evening.

POLITICIANS ANXIOUS AT PARTY 'POW-WOW'

State politicians are doing much speculating as to just what transpired at the alleged "pow-wow" between progressive republican leaders in Madison this week.

Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, candidate for the United States senate, was there as was Senator Otto Bosshard. Both today deny published reports that they mapped the 1914 campaign of the progressives.

Mr. Bosshard asserts that he was in Madison on business before the tax rate and highway commissions while Mr. Morris was in the city on legal business with Attorney George H. Gordon.

While there they met—they say by chance—Morris Morrisy, Delavan; Herman L. Ekern, insurance commissioner, Attorney General Walter C. Owen and other leaders.

COURT DECLARES BAKER LAW LEGAL

Supreme Bench in Zadrow Case Deals Death Blow to 1,000 Saloons

ROSE APPEARS FOR PLAINTIFF

Former Milwaukee Mayor Attacks Law on Ground It Creates Monopoly

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—The Wisconsin Supreme court upholding th Baker saloon license law today, dealt a death blow to about 1,000 saloons throughout Wisconsin, most of them in Milwaukee, whose licenses it declared are void. They were issued in excess of the ratio of one to 250 people, established by the law, which also says that a license must be in a fixed place and may not be transferred to a new location.

The decision was rendered in the case of Frank Zadrow, a Milwaukee saloonkeeper.

Former Mayor Rose, for Zadrow, whose license is in dispute, challenged the law on the ground that it denies equal protection of the laws, that it creates a monopoly in favor of 2,224 places and against 30,000 other places in Milwaukee, that it allows the exaction of extortionate rates, that it is class legislation, that it destroys the right of home rule in that it denies to the people of the city the right to say where saloons shall be located, that it takes property without compensation that that it confines saloons to the identical places they occupied June 30, 1907, and that for all time they may not be changed.

"Why should the member of the legislature from West Superior have voice to tell us here in Milwaukee where we shall locate our saloons," Rose argued. "It is only in home rule that the theory of a representative form of government may be carried out."

Assistant Attorney General Messerschmidt, for the state, took the position that the legislature has great powers to control he liquor traffic and may even destroy it altogether. To the argument that the Baker law unlawfully discriminates in favor of persons and property, he replied that the business called for distinct legislation and that no rules of classification are violated by the classification made in the law. He said it applies equally to each member in the class.

"It is difficult to see how the cities have been deprived of any municipal function by the proviso of the Baker law," he said. "The rights of home rule are not violated."

District Attorney Yockey filed a brief containing similar arguments in support of the law, calling it "a wholesome one, logical and beneficient in its effect, and clearly valid."

Russell Jackson, counsel for the Schlitz Brewing Co., filed a brief as amicus curiae, in support of the law. He made light of the opposition's arguments on home rule.

"Experience has fully justified the passage of the act," he said. "Its purpose is beneficent—a step in the right direction, and whatever individual hardships it will entail will be more than compensated for by the good that will result."

That the city of Racine may take over the property of the Racine Water company was decided by the Supreme court today. The voters of Racine decided in favor of municipal ownership, but the question submitted read. "Shall the city of Racine acquire its own waterworks?" Nothing was said as to the plant of the Racine Water company. The company insisted the purchase under this election was invalid.

Several other issues were involved, all of which make the case one of large importance in public utility regulation by the state. Arguing against the right of the city to acquire the plant, the water company set forth that the city made no provision for issuing bonds to compensate the company, and that if the price were paid the city would exceed the limit of its bonded indebtedness.

PIONEER FARMER OF LA CRESCENT DEAD

Patrick Burns, age 81, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home in La Crescent. Heart failure was the cause. He had only been ill a few days.

Mr. Burns was born in Donegal county, Ireland, and has been a resident of La Crescent for over fifty years. He has been occupied in farming from the time he first settled there. He is survived by his wife, four sons, William, Thomas, John and Charles Burns, and three daughters, Mrs. Mary Tiffany, Mrs. Susy Turnbull and Miss Catherine Burns, all of La Crescent.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning from the residence, and at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church at La Crescent. Rev. Father Henry Dolle will conduct the services. Burial will take place at the Catholic cemetery at La Crescent.

$113,742.67 IS COUNTY'S SHARE OF STATE TAXES

Big Increase in Levy Due to Remittance Made Last Year Upon Governor's Suggestion

GET MUCH BACK FROM STATE

In 1912 the State Paid La Crosse $8,000 More Than Was Turned Into Coffers from County

UNIVERSITY RUN ECONOMICALLY

Amount Demanded for Its Support Much Less Than Two Years Ago; Levy for New Capitol

The state tax levy against La Crosse for the coming year, totals $113,742.67 according to the figures received this morning by Bert Jollivette, county clerk, from John S. Donald, secretary of state.

While this amount on the surface appears to be nearly three times the levy of last year, which was $43,473.75, it is pointed out that the increase is due to the fact that it was found necessary to make a call for $1,500,000 to make up the shortage in the general fund caused by the big tax remittances made last year at the request of Governor McGovern.

In view of the fact that the state last year paid La Crosse over $8,000 instead of the county paying anything to the state the average for the two years, it is claimed, is about normal.

The La Crosse county levy this year contains an item, $20,856.55, for general purposes, the direct result of the remittances, while $6,256.96 is the amount assessed against this county towards the new capitol building.

State Tax Levy

The county's share of the state taxes follows:

Interest on certificates of indebtedness	$ 2,190.92
Free high school	2,433.26
Graded schools	2,780.87
State university	15,632.85
Normal schools	6,947.97
Common schools	26,100.65
New capitol	6,256.96
State highways	22,942.20
General purposes	20,856.55
Total	$106,442.33

Special Charges

The special charges upon the county for charitable and penal institutions is as follows:

Care chronic insane	$ 186.24
State hospital	2,792.00
Home for feeble minded	2,165.19
Industrial school for boys	355.22
Tuberculosis sanitarium	775.00
Total	$6,273.65

County Gets Back Money

In many instances the county will get from the state more than it pays. While the levy this year assesses La Crosse county $186.25 for the care of the chronic insane it is worth noting that the county in 1912 received $13,635.51 from the state for the support of the West Salem institution, and will receive approximately as much this year.

During the last state campaign much capital was made out of alleged extravagance in the administration of the affairs of the state university. The amount La Crosse county will be expected to pay towards the support this year is $15,632.95 while in 1911 the amount assessed against this county was $16,567.66.

In a letter which accompanied the levy Secretary of State Donald explained that "all of the above amounts are for education and highways, with the exception of those for new capitol and general purposes, and are returned to the people either directly or indirectly, with additional moneys."

Practically all highway and school taxes will come back to the county and on other items the county will fare better than the state.

The city of La Crosse pays about sixty-two per cent of the tax.

George Olson, aged 26 years, Camp Douglas, Wis., secured a license today to wed Miss Barbara A. Kuranz, aged 22, of Bangor, Wis.

MAYOR HEAD OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT SAYS JUDGE HIGBEE

GOOD ROADS PLAN TO BE SUBMITTED

Representative of National Highway Association Is Coming to La Crosse in Near Future

THE PLAN IS A STUPENDOUS ONE

Proposal to Weave Net of Roads at Cost of $500,000,000 to the Federal Government

E. H. Billings, agent of the National Highway Association, Washington, D. C., visited today William Doerflinger, president of the La Crosse Board of Trade and made preliminary arrangements for his forthcoming campaign in behalf of the national roads system.

The association plan is a proposal to ask congress to appropriate $500,000,000 for a system of national highways, of which $50,000,000 shall be available annually.

The association's engineers have furnished a plan for a concrete road twenty-two feet wide and a foot deep.

The system reaches every congressional district and every city of twenty thousand people or more in the entire United States.

The National Highway Association is being extended by the formation of local associations, which are affiliated with the national association. Local and state or sectional associations already formed are being amalgamated with the national association wherever that is possible.

When the membership campaign, now in progress in every state in the union, is completed the list will be taken as the basis of support for an appeal to congress for the adoption of the plan, and already forty-one governors of states have agreed to head the list.

La Crosse is on the line of the road being planned by the Chicago, Black Hills and Yellowstone Road association, which was affiliated with the national association during its convention at Winona last week. The road the association is working on is known as the Black and Yellow Trail.

The association's plan contemplates the creation of a national commission much like the Panama canal commission, to have charge of the practical work.

Mr. Billings is nearly through with his work in Winona, where an association has been formed with George Hirsch as president and E. B. Schoonmaker as secretary. He expects that John Utermoehl, secretary of the Board of trade, will work with him here in the interest of the board of trade.

Upon his arrival here, following a meeting with the board of trade officials, a mass-meeting under the auspices of the board will be called, and this will be followed by a general educational campaign.

MAY LAND WOMAN UNDER LINLEY LAW

May Close Famous Resort of Frankie LaSalle in Whose Place Couples Were Arrested

Frankie La Salle, in whose place on lower Pearl street three couples were arrested last night by the police, may be the first alleged keeper of an immoral house to feel the effects of the Linley law, passed at the 1913 session of the legislature. The law makes it possible to close, for one year, all houses proven to have been used for immoral purposes.

Evidently the La Salle woman or her attorney were "tipped" to the plan of Police Chief Webber, for this morning both appeared before Edward Cronon and attempted to have the pleas of guilty entered by the couples caught in last night's raid withdrawn. The city attorney refused to consent, whereupon it was announced the circuit court would be appealed to.

The men and girls were fined $12.50 each. The men paid their fines. The girls are still held at the police station and up to noon had been unable to raise funds sufficient to secure their release.

According to Police Chief Webber the resort had been under surveillance for some time, the police merely waiting for an opportunity to make a "haul."

The La Salle woman owns the building she occupies.

CIRCUIT COURT DECISION GOES INTO THE MERITS

Says Legislative Intent was to Make Second and Third Class Mayors Chief of Departments

WILL GO TO THE SUPREME COURT

Webber's Attorneys Announce They Will Seek Determination by Highest Tribunal

SORENSEN IS "MUM" ON PLANS

Executive Declines to Discuss Decision and Is Silent on Next Move in Police Controversy

The mayor of La Crosse is head of the police and fire departments.

This is the decision rendered this morning by Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee, who heard the arguments in the police fight.

The decision appears to decide the case on its merits and upholds the contentions of City Attorney J. E. Higbee, that the mayor is the legal head of the departments and the law never contemplated making the chief of police head of his department.

Attorneys for Police Chief John Webber announced, immediately after learning of the decision this morning, that the case will be carried to the Wisconsin supreme court for determination. This is in accordance with the program suggested by Chief Webber when the disagreement arose between himself and Mayor Sorensen as to who had the right to dictate to the department and its men.

Mayor is Silent

Mayor Sorensen this morning declined to discuss the decision. Neither would he make any statement as to what step, if any, was to be taken next in the police controversy.

In his decision Judge Higbee calls attention to Chapter 586, laws of 1913, which provides that the chief engineer of the fire department and the chief of police department (in cities of the first class) shall be the heads of their respective departments. The court rules that this is argument sufficient to prove that the intent of the legislature was to have mayors in cities of the second and third classes—La Crosse is a third class city—retain the absolute authority over the police and fire departments vested in them by that provision of the special city charter which says the "mayor shall be the head of the fire and police departments."

The Court's Decision

Attorneys for Chief Webber argued that this section of the city's charter had been abbrogated by the adoption of certain portions of the general charter law and the fire and police commission law.

Judge Higbee's decision follows:

"The facts so far as pertinent to a consideration of the questions of law are not in dispute, and may be briefly stated as follows: (a) La Crosse is a city of the third class. (b) The plaintiff is and for many years last past has been the chief of police of said city. (c) The defendant is and since the spring of 1913, has been mayor of said city. (d) There is now and since 1897 has been a board of police and fire commissioners of said city appointed pursuant to the provisions of chapter 247, laws of 1897. (e) That since his election as mayor, the defendant has insisted that he, as mayor, is the head of the police force, and acting under such claim, has issued orders in writing to the chief of police commanding him to do certain things pertaining to the management of the police department.

"It is charged in the complaint that these orders were not issued in good faith but for the express purpose of harassing the plaintiff and that to carry out such orders would greatly impair the efficiency of the force.

"Counsel for plaintiff did not seriously contend that this court should attempt to determine the good faith of the defendant's acts, or whether his orders would redound to the benefit or detriment of the service, for to embark upon such inquiries would be tantamount to an assumption by the court of the right to control the administration of the city's affairs, which it is clear the court has no right to do.

"At the very threshold of our inquiry we are met with the question of whether a court of equity will en-

165 CORPSES BROUGHT FROM STAG CANYON MINE EARLY TODAY; SURVIVORS ARE KILLED BY CAVE-IN

DAWSON, N. M., Octfl 28.—The bodies of all the miners entombed by an explosion last week in Stag Canyon No. 2 mine here will be removed by tomorrow. Early today 165 corpses had been brought to the surface and the work of locating the remaining ninety-eight was proceeding rapidly.

That Superintendent William McDermott, Henry P. McShane of New York and sixteen miners and subbosses were about to escape when they were killed by the cave-in of a chamber, was indicted today by the finding of their corpses buried under debris in room number 4 north.

It is believed that after the first explosion the men started toward the tunnel which connects No. 3 mine with No. 5, when there came a second explosion which wrecked the chamber and killed them.

All the corpses found Sunday were decomposed, making burial necessary as soon as they were brought to the surface.

FORTS AT PANAMA PROVE WORTHLESS

Secret Test Shows Up Defects and Many Changes Are Made

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The Atlantic fleet will assemble off Panama in February, in a war game which may last for several days and will test the fortifications guarding the canal. With this announcement today it became known that a secret test last fall proved the fortifications worthless. Many changes have been made and the naval officers are anxious to put them to a test. President Wilson has been urged to be present for the tests in February and is seriously considering making the trip.

It was learned today that after the fall maneuvers off Guantanamo last year the entire fortifications and canal locks masks were reconstructed after the naval officers had made their report. Even the mortars, which guard Christobal, the Atlantic approach to the canal, were thrown five miles further outside the breakwater. The test was made at the request of Col. Goethals, and the naval officers' reports showed that they were able to draw almost perfect maps of the canal locks and fortifications from their fire control towers at night. 'They proved that an enemy approaching at night could have destroyed the canal with ease.

The maneuvers in February will be similar to those held last fall. Day and night attacks on the canal will be made. The fleet officers from the fire control towers, 128 feet above the deck, will direct the attack. The fortifications were reconstructed particularly to guard against a night attack of an invading fleet. From their towers the fleet officers will be able to determine whether their attack would be successful or whether the fleet would be discovered and destroyed by the mortars and mines guarding the canal before shelss could be thrown into it.

GERMAN SOCIALIST DESCRIBES GROWTH

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—Milwaukee socialists packed Plankinton hall last night to hear Phillipp Scheidemann, socialist member of the reichstag, tell the story how German social democracy polled over four million votes in the elections of 1912.

"Thirty years ago, when social democrats were being hounded by Bismarck," he said, "the party record was 400,000 votes. Today it has members in the imperial parliament and is the 'enfant terrible' of the kaiser and his councillors."

LOST MAN FOUND DEAD OF GUNSHOT

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 28.—St. Louis county, Minn., authorities have another murder mystery to unravel in the finding on Monday of the body of Louis Laine of Brimson, Minn., who mysteriously disappeared from his home on July 6 last. Laine's body was found by two farmers alongside a country road. An examination developed that the man had been shot. A deputy sheriff has been dispatched to the scene.

BANGOR PAIR ARE WED IN LA CROSSE

Miss Hulda Wettstein, Bangor, and John J. Chapiewsky of the same place were married this morning at 10:45 by Rev. Finch A. Clarke, pastor of the North Presbyterian church at his residence. Ida Exal of this city was bridesmaid and Edward Chapiewski was best man. The couple left for a short wedding trip, after which they will return to Bangor where they will make their residence.

CENT TO CONSCIENCE FUND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—One cent, the smallest contribution ever made to the government "conscience fund," was sent to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo today by an anonymous Washingtonian to pay for a stolen box of matchees.

HUNTER FATALLY SHOT

MARINETTE, Wis., Oct. 28.—The trigger of his shotgun caught by a root as he laid the weapon down to look into an animal's lair, Henry Felimer, aged 16, of Grover, Wis., received the full charge of the shot in the front of his head. He will die.

PORTERS ORGANIZE FOR LARGER TIPS

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Pullman porters have secretly formed a union, R. W. Bell, the secretary, announced here today, and will demand better wages to offset the loss caused by the anti-tipping laws. He intimated, too, that the whiskbroom will be whisked less vigorously unless the traveling public comes through with bigger tips.

"The porter is paid $27.50 a month," said Bell, "and the Pullman company expects him to make the rest of his living off the tips."

Girlish Complexion Now Easily Acquired

"A skin of blended snow, cream and rose" is the way an Ohio correspondent describes her newly acquired complexion. She is one who has adopted mercolized wax in place of cosmetics, massage, steaming and other methods. Many who have tried this marvelous wax report that its effects are quite different from those of any other treatment. It produces a complexion of exquisite girlish naturalness, rather than one bearing evidence of having been artificially "made over." One that is indeed "nature's own" the result of gradually absorbing dead particles of surface skin, permitting the younger, healthier skin beneath to show itself and giving its pores a chance to breathe. Mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store in original one ounce package, is put on at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

I have also had many favorable letters from those who have tried the wrinkle-removing face bath which I recommended recently. If any have mislaid the formula, here it is: 1 oz. powdered saxolite, dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel.—"Natalie" in the Woman Militant.—Advertisement.

ELEVATOR FALLS 7 FLOORS

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Crashing down seven floors in a loft building at 129 West Twenty-ninth street, the lives of seven young women and five men were imperiled today when an elevator in which they were riding, fell. All were badly bruised and shaken up. One young woman became hysterical and was removed to a hospital.

Juno Cut the Eyes on Her Pet's Tail.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Peacock Teased The Chickens.

DADDY had been telling Jack and Evelyn about the beautiful white peacocks he had seen on the lawn at the big park he had visited that day.

"They were handsome fellows, white as milk and with lovely crests on their heads. When they strutted around their long tails trailed behind them like the trains on a court lady's dress," said daddy.

"They are beautiful birds and, like many handsome people, quite vain. They seem to know when they are being admired and stand around to give folks a chance to say nice things about them.

"With all their beauty, I am afraid the peacocks do not have nice dispositions. The one I am going to tell you about did not, at any rate.

"It was a great splendid creature with green and blue and yellow feathers. It lived on a great big farm and was the pet of every one. Its mistress had named it Argus. Argus, by the way, was also the name of a servant of the goddess Juno. Juno had a beautiful cow named Io. This she set Argus to watch, because, having a hundred eyes, she thought he would be able to watch it well. But Hermes, one of the gods who could play on the flute, thought he would show Juno how misplaced was her trust in Argus' hundred eyes.

"So he strolled up one day and made friends with Argus. He knew that half of the hundred eyes went to sleep, while the other fifty were awake and kept watch. Hermes thought he knew of a way to put all the eyes to sleep.

"He asked Argus if he would not like some music, and the hundred eyed one said he would. So Hermes played a soft, soothing air on his flute, and in no time he had all of the hundred eyes asleep at once and could lead away the beautiful cow.

"Juno was so angry with Argus that she took away his hundred eyes and put them in the tail of her favorite bird, the peacock.

"The real farm yard Argus of which I started to tell you liked to tease the chickens. Chickens are afraid of any strange thing which they see in the air above them. They will run from a kite and squawk if a toy balloon floats over the chicken yard. When a peacock raises its tail the train stands up like a fan and makes a rustling noise that frightens the chickens.

"This naughty peacock had a habit of strolling into the chicken house, driving the hens into a corner, then raising his train and shaking it over the scared Biddies' heads until they squawked in terror, thinking the hawk surely was coming.

"Some one always came and chased the naughty Argus away, but it was a prank that the peacock enjoyed, and he played it over and over, for the silly chickens were too stupid to learn how they were being fooled."

MOST IMPORTANT UNDERTAKING

The secretary of agriculture has said: "I am convinced that the biggest problem confronting us is the rural life problem, and yet it is one which in its largest aspects has been ignored." Mr. Houston made this remark in connection with the proposed School of Country Life in Nashville, Tennesse. This school is appropriately to bear the name of Seaman A. Knapp, who did so much pioneer work in connection with country life in the South, and it is to be run in connection with the George Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville. It will represent the first attempt in America to build an institution devoted exclusively to the study of rural life. Eighty-five per cent of the people in the South live in the country. This school will not only teach the principles of better farming with which Mr. Knapp's name is closely associated, but it will also teach such subjects as the best system of buying land and equipping farms, establishing farm credits, taxing agricultural property, co-operation of various kinds, better marketing. The question of the best memorial to Dr. Knapp arose immediately after his death, two and one-half years ago. A committee was organized with representatives from every Southern state, and it certainly reached the right decision in selecting a school so profoundly needed, especially by the South. The General Education Board offered to give $250,000, the interest of which is to go to running expenses. The Memorial committee undertook to raise $150,000 for the building and the farm. The trustees of the Peabody Education fund have given to the George Peabody College for Teachers the sum of one million dollars, concurrent with gifts of money by the state of Tennessee, the county of Davidson and the city of Nashville, amounting to $550,000, and sixteen acres of land, with buildings and appurtenances, by the University of Nashville. In closing the Peabody Trust and founding the College for Teachers, the Peabody fund offered to endow the college with the additional sum of five hundred thousand dollars, provided that by November 1, 1913, the college should raise the further sum of one million dollars. Of that amount, eight hundred thousand dollars has been raised as we go to press, leaving two hundred thousand dollars to be raised this month. It seems impossible that so much money for such a noble purpose could be lost through a failure to raise an additional two hundred thousand dollars, and we have the utmost confidence that the money will be found. There is no possible way in which it could be used to more profound advantage.—Harpers.

EYES AT AUCTION AT THE "EXPO"

How much is your sight worth to you? Doubtless an incalculable sum. In that case, and if you are going to the Panama-Pacific exposition of 1915 in San Francisco, you will do well to steer clear of the official vision tinkers. For the directors of the exposition have, in a sense, put your eyes up at auction. They plan to dispose of the spectacle selling concession at the exposition to the highest bidder, in spite of repeated protests that thus they "take a purely commercial view of the transaction and utterly ignore the fact that better vision is not merely a matter of barter, but of professional skill and service," to quote the president of the American Optical association. When, in August, Collier's criticized this attitude, the director of the division of exploitation telegraphed a protest, offering to submit contracts and correspondence in defense of the project. By return mail we requested that the evidence be sent. No further word has been received, although six weeks have passed, up to the time of this writing. Evidently, then, the directors are going ahead without regard to the eyesight of the public, to make what profit there is in it. But why stop at eyes? Is there no golden opportunity in the dental privilege? Surely some Painless Parkins ought to "come across" roundly for the exclusive graft in tooth pulling. What about lungs? Duffy's Malt Whiskey ought to put up a thumping price for the consumption concession. And there could not but be a pretty penny in the Bright's disease-and-diabetes privilege; old "Dr." Kilmer please write. Furthermore, Dr. Hartmann of Peruna fame is still exchanging fake promises for dollars; it should take some bidding to beat him out for the catarrh permit. And how is it that gentlemen with keen business instincts of the San Francisco managers haven't thought of inciting a profitable rivalry between Anti-Kamnia and Orangeine for the headache rights? Obviously there is a broad and fertile field of enterprise here. With neither principles nor pride to deter them, the Panama-Pacific exploiters would get enormous returns on a sale-to-the-highest-bidder partnership with the Great American Fraud—and the public be duped!—Collier's.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfall of Labrador is to be Francis Sayre's best man at the White house wedding. It will not be necessary to build a hot fire in the furnace on his account.

Jack Johnson has become a naturalized French citizen, and no deputation of prominent Americans has gone across to persuade him not to go back on his native land.

When Mrs. Pankhurst gets elected to the English parliament, all she will have to do when the majority goes against her will be to go without her breakfast.

It can't be very expensive for the candidates to do electioneering in Mexico, as all that has to be done is to send the campaign literature to President Huerta.

It is said that a Cleveland boy stole $1400 to go to Oxford university, but in this country they are more apt to get through college by stealing bases.

As only one person in 200 has to pay the new income tax, there is great enthusiasm for the law among 99½ per cent of the people.

Congress won't let the vice president have an automobile, but perhaps it would allow him 10 cents a day for street car fares.

As there were only three serious and fatal wrecks on Sunday, October 19, it is felt that American railroads are doing pretty well.

Secretary Bryan has been addressing the Iowa dairymen, who are anxious to know how they can milk the consumer.

The football teams may be largely disabled, but they're capable of making some cripples yet.

The Typo and His Pipe

The long, long day through summer's heat,
The long, long day through winter's cold,
Demurely he sits in his lowly seat,
With a steady hand and a spirit bold.
And he fills his galley with lines of type,
And slowly rises and fills his pipe.

He touches the keys with his finger tips,
And down the matrices swiftly glide,
And in the corners of his pale lips
A smile of comfort essays to hide,
Because his galley is filled with type,
And he has a chance to fill his pipe.

The wheels go round with a jolt and jerk,
And the pot of metal sends out its heat,
But the Linotypist bends to his work,
And this is the thing that keeps him sweet—
He knows when his galley is filled with type
He then can rise and fill his pipe.

Explain, pipe dreamers, some pleasant day,
So a poor old fogy can comprehend,
What is the charm of the cob or clay,
Though redolent with nicotine blend,
That makes a typo fill his pipe,
Each time he fills his galley with type.

—J. M. Caveness, in the Chanute (Kan.) Tribune.

Bright Outlook for Kelly

They were speaking of paradoxical expressions at a recent banquet when an amused expression floated over the features of Gov. George W. Clarke of Iowa, who was on a visit to the east. He explained that he was reminded of an incident along that line.

Recently there was a bad railroad wreck in a western state, and after the injured had been cared for, a man hastened up to one of the doctors.

"Doctor," asked the man in an anxious voice, "is Kelly very badly hurt?"

"He is indeed," admitted the doctor. "We are compelled to amputate both legs."

"You don't really mean it, doctor!" returned the other, deeply concerned. "Do you think he will recover?"

"Oh yes," was the confident rejoinder of the doctor. "I will have him on his feet again in a couple of months."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Don't Blame The Baby

Abolish the Poisonous, Unsafe "Safety" Pin—Learn the Vanta Idea—No Pins or Buttons

Mothers—nurses—big sisters—won't you please save baby from that vicious pin? It not only jabs the stabs, but its wounds are poisonous. The "safety" pin is safe only when all goes well with it—like the dish of fly-poison on the shelf that's harmless only until baby happens to get hold of it.

The new Vanta idea in baby clothes makes pins to prick or buttons to bruise perfectly barbarous. For it's easier for the mother or nurse, to dress the child with Vanta garments and you save the little one all the danger of pricks and all the risk of blood-poison. IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble. Agent, Chas Beyschlag, druggist, 503 Main street.

Sleuths Swap Yarns

Bert Cowdrey, a Chicago detective, met Captain Tom Halls of the secret service during the prison congress. They talked of mutual friends and Captain Halls reached into his wallet for a card. Cowdrey spied a counterfeit note Halls had captured.

"Raised, was it?" Cowdrey asked.

"Yes, from two to ten," Halls answered, meaning that the bill had been raised from a $2 bank note to $10.

"That reminds me of a funny thing that happened to me not long ago," Cowdrey related. "I had pinched a bill raiser and had one of his bills in my pocket. My wife needed some money and went into my pockets the next morning. She got the bill, went down to a department store, spent it and then came home and told me about it. Well, just imagine how I felt. I chased down to the store, but the bad bill had been passed onto some one else, and I never heard of it again."

"Something like a couple of officers from southern Indiana," Captain Halls broke in. "They had arrested a counterfeiter and when his case came up for trial they were summoned as witnesses. When the district attorney asked them to produce their evidence, one of the officers fumbled in his pockets nervously, blushed and looked like a sad sheep.

"'Didn't you bring the bad money with you?' the district attorney inquired.

"'Yes, sir,' the officer replied, 'but we missed connections at Terre Haute and I—I guess we spent it.'"—Indianapolis News.

Dry Humor

The chief forest ranger of the big government reserve along the Grand canyon in Arizona had occasion lately in the course of a somewhat extended trip to travel as far east as Kansas City. When he returned to his post of duty he brought along an Irishman who had expressed a desire to go west and grow up with the country.

When they struck the desert the Irishman looked for a spell at the dry and arid prospect. Then he said "Mister, I don't want to say anything unpleasant about this country, but it looks to me like it would take nine acres of it to rust one nail!"—Saturday Evening Post.

A Romance of Extraordinary Distinction

The Marshal

The one thing which the lad could do was riding. "Henry," Francois spoke, as the two trotted together down a shady lane of the plantation on the way to the far fields where negroes worked in the autumn sunlight, "what would you think of organizing a mounted troop of militia?"

The boy's face flamed with excitement. What would he think of it? He would think it glorious, wonderful, half a dozen big adjectives.

There were many young men in the neighborhood; all of them rode; none of them had enough to do; Francois had a hold on them—a man may not spend five years in a dungeon because of a dashing mad act of bravery without acquiring a halo which adheres afterward; it was fairly certain that a military company, originating with the Chevalier Beaupre, would succeed. And it succeeded. Three days later it was started with the cordial sanction of the fathers and the enthusiasm of the sons. Francois was, of course, the moving spirit and the responsible head, and Francois was hard at work calling back the old lore of his school-days at Saint-Cyr and reading books on tactics and all military subjects.

"Henry," said Colonel Hampton one morning after breakfast at Roanoke House, "I want to speak to you a moment in my study."

Harry went calmly into the dim, pleasant, old room, with its paneled walls and portraits set into the paneling; he had no fear of what his uncle might say, for he was not merely the young nephew and ward living in his uncle's house—he was the owner of most of the acres which made the plantation a great one. Colonel Hampton considered that in his treatment of Harry, and Harry knew it well enough. Moreover, it was an unspoken secret that Harry or Lucy had the right of strength over weakness in dealing with the head of the house. Obstinacy combined sometimes with weakness, it is true, but yet the two youngsters understood clearly that the colonel was the head only by a graceful fiction. So young Henry Hampton felt no alarm at the quality of his uncle's tone. The colonel sat down in the biggest chair, a chair throne-like in its dignity; he faced the lad and pulled importantly at the end of his mustache.

"This troop of cavalry is about organized?" he demanded.

"Well, that's rather a big name for it, Uncle Henry, but it is going like a streak," answered Henry, junior. "We meet again today, and tomorrow I think we shall begin business."

"I approve of it,' Colonel Hampton stated.

Harry bowed his head gravely. The colonel went on.

"It is a well-bred and appropriate method of amusement. A gentleman should know something of military affairs. But—ah—the ranking and—ah—arrangements? Such details are not unlikely, with gentlemen of the first families, as you all are—except one—to crystallize into a—later importance. The man who has been the leader of this company of very young men will not unlikely be the man thought of as a leader in—ah—affairs of greater moment to come. May I inquire who is the captain?"

Henry Hampton looked troubled, impatient.

"Why, nobody yet, Uncle Henry. We have not got to that. But, of course, the Chevalier—"

Colonel Hampton interrupted him. "Exactly. I thought so. That is what I wish to avoid. The Chevalier must not be the captain."

The boy caught up the words hotly. "Uncle Henry, he has done it all. We all want him."

"Exactly. But you must not have him. I am surprised at you, Henry! Do you remember that this man is peasant-born? Do you want to be led into battle by a person whose rank is not above that of our own servants?"

"Led into battle!" Young Henry laughed shortly. "Led into a corn field is more like it." And then his glance fired. "Moreover, Uncle Henry, if there were battle in the case, we should all count ourselves lucky to be led by—a hero."

"A hero!" Colonel Hampton sniffed. "A mere French peasant, by his own account. Of course, I have—received him, because of your infatuation for him. And—the young man has qualities. He has been a success socially, I will not deny. I am quite surprised by his success. But when it comes to putting him into a position above men of birth, my blood revolts. I request you, Henry, to use your influence against this. I can not endure to have him give you commands. You should be the captain, because your social position has made the enterprise possible. But, yet, if—your misfortune—if some other seems more fit—" A painful color darkened the boy's face and his brows gathered. The colonel went on. "I should make no objection to that. But"—again he pulled at the corners of his mustache with solemnity—"I must request you to use your influence absolutely to prevent this parvenu from being placed over you."

Harry Hampton put his hand on the table beside him and lifting himself with that aid stood before his uncle, leaning a little on the table as his lame foot made it necessary, but yet a figure full of decision and dignity.

"And I must refuse absolutely, Uncle Henry, to do anything of the kind. I am not in question. As you say, I have—a misfortune. I shall use what influence I have to see that the Chevalier Beaupre is made captain of the company he has organized and is to educate. That is fitting. I am proud to call him my friend, and I am glad that am large-minded enough to realize that as large a mind as his is not to be measured by petty standards. If he is a prince or if he is a peasant is quite immaterial, because he is first a very great thing—himself." He turned from the astonished colonel and with his halting step was gone.

Shortly the young master's horse was ordered and he had left word with Ebenezer, the butler, as he went out, that he would not be home till bedtime, and was off toward Carnifax.

"Francois," he began, finding his friend busy over his papers in that same library, at that same carved mahogany desk, where today lie the packages of old letters—"Francois, I want to speak to you—about something—before our meeting."

"What then? The boy is out of breath. You have been running Black Hawk again, my Henry—that horse will complain of you soon, the strong beast. What is it you are in such a hurry to say that one must race across country so of a good hour of the morning."

But Henry was too intent to talk nothings. "It is important," he said briefly. "We must have a captain for the company at once, and it must be you."

Though women do not have the right of suffrage in Maryland, Judge Robert Henderson of the Allegheny county circuit court has ruled that the board of election supervisors have no alternative but to place the name of Mrs. Grace Koontz of Midland, on the forthcoming election. She is the socialist candidate for treasurer and the supervisors held that she could not serve if elected. The judge ruled that there is no law in the state preventing women from holding office, and that the supervisors have no judicial authority to pass upon the question.

SNOW IN OZARKS

ROLLA, Mo., Oct. 28.—This section of Missouri and the Ozark country today was in the throes of a heavy snowstorm. This afternoon snow was twelve inches deep and the streets were blocked with falling branches of trees. The snow followed a twenty-four hour rain which commenced falling at 7 o'clock last night. Telegraph and telephone service is badly crippled.

POISONED MAN DIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—After a wonderful fight of eight days against poisoning by bichloride of mercury which he took by mistake, Isaac Levy, a wealthy manufacturer, died here at 12:12 o'clock today. During last night Levy, whose bodily functions had stopped, suffered great agony. He became unconscious shortly before noon today, and a few minutes later the deadly poison completed its work.

The Home Beauty Parlor.

by Betty Dean

Marie: Your shortsightedness and squinting are probably caused by a weak and overworked condition of the eyes. I do not think your eye troubles are serious; they can be relieved with the daily application of two or three drops at a time of this simple tonic: Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This will be a great comfort as well as a beautifier and will prevent that squinting which is apt to make crow's-feet and lines about the eyes. Take my advice; don't worry.

Hilda: There are many methods advocated for reducing the chin; but after all, there is nothing so good as to keep down the general flesh. And this does not require any vigorous dieting or exercising if you will take this simple remedy which you can mix at home. Get four ounces of parnotis at the drugstore, and dissolve it in 1½ pints water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. It will work magic with the "dreadful double chin" and you will experience no bad effects. High collars should be worn as little as possible. They increase the tendency to flabby throat.

Miss L. G.: Here is a hair tonic which you can prepare at home at small expense and which is a genuine hair grower of the best and simplest kind. Be sure to keep your scalp clean by frequent shampooing with canthrox and then rub into your scalp this tonic, made by dissolving an ounce of quinzoin in a half pint of alcohol and adding one-half pint cold water. For all scalp troubles and badly nourished hair this is an unequalled remedy.

Olive: I never recommend a hair dye, but unless I am much mistaken about your age, you should not have trouble with faded or gray hair for a long while yet. The best way in the world to stop your hair troubles is to wash with canthrox occasionally. Use a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. It is the best thing I know of to remove dandruff and prevent brittleness, split hairs, and the irritation caused by excess oil. It cleanses thoroughly, and has none of the objectionable qualities of soap or ordinary shampoos. This is very economical and easy to use. Dries quickly and can be used with the very least waste of time.

Miss H. O.: Your skin trouble sounds as if it were caused by your use of ordinary face powders. They give an artificial look—especially if one is inclined to be sallow or pimpled. The very thing for you is spurmax—the best liquid lotion I know about. It is economical because you mix it yourself at home. Get 4 ounces spurmax (at any drugstore) and mix it with ½ pint hot water, add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine, apply it to face, neck and arms. The effect will surprise you with its beauty and naturalness. It will cling as if a part of your skin, and last during an entire evening. It will not only disguise cold sores, blemishes, etc., but in time it will relieve them entirely.

Lily Dale: For your hollow cheeks and sallow, colorless skin, there is nothing better in the world than this greaseless complexion jelly which you can easily prepare at home. Get one ounce of almozoin, put it in a fruit jar, add half a pint cold water and two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand over night. The use of this with careful massaging will improve skin-nutrition and give transparency and loveliness to the complexion. It is fine to correct pimples.

Isabel: I was glad to read of your enthusiasm about the canthrox shampoo and gladly respond also to your request for this old fashioned tonic prescription. Dissolve one-half cup sugar and one ounce kardene in one-half pint alcohol; then add enough boiling water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. I think your sudden distate for work is, as you say, physical, and this tonic will, by purging the system of impurities, restore your flagging energies and spirits. For a good complexion beautifier see answer to Miss H. O.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturaly and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Advertisement

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home

A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"LA MARECHALE" TO APPEAR HERE

Famous Daughter of the Founder of Salvation Army to Speak at Presbyterian Church

Rev. D. C. Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, today anuounced the appearance of Mrs. Catherine Booth-Clibborn, "La Marechale," for a week of meetings, beginning Sunday, November 2.

Mrs. Booth-Clibborn is the daughter of the late General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army. She is an evangelist of wide experience. Her work has principally been performed in France, Switzerland and Belgium, where she has made a wonderful record in the slums of the great cities.

Ten years ago Mrs. Booth-Clibborn and her husband withdrew from the Salvation Army, to concentrate on general church evangelism. Her work has been highly honored in recent years among British congregations. In her work Mrs. Booth-Clibborn is assistde by her daughter, Miss Victoria, who has already made a place for herself in England as a young evangelist of large promise.

FATHER MURPHY HAS ANNIVERSARY

Today marks the twenty-seventh year that Father Ambrose Murphy, pastor of St. James Catholic church on Caledonia street, has been in the priesthood. Twenty-five years of this time Father Murphy has been at the head of the north side congregation.

Father Murphy was ordained in Austria, October 28, 1886, after a long course of study in European schools for the education of clergyman.

E. S. JOHNSON CALLED BY DEATH

Resident of North Side for Nearly 25 Years Succumbs to Dropsy

Edmund S. Johnston, for nearly twenty-five years a resident of the north side, died at his home, 508 Island street at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death resulted at the age of 62 years after a short illness caused by dropsy.

During the past four years Mr. Johnston has been retired from business. He was born January 17, 1851, in Louisville, Ky. Following a common school education in the city, he attended the Georgetown college at Georgetown, Ky., from which he graduated.

At the age of twenty-one he left Kentucky and settled in Cresco, Ia. Mr. Johnston was married in 1882. During the time he was in Iowa, he was in the dry goods and clothing business. Following a few years spent in Oklahoma, Mr. Johnston came here. For twenty years he has been engaged in a north side business, and was one of the best known men in that part of the city.

Surviving him is his wife and a few distant relatives.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from the home and will be conducted by Mrs. Mary M. Smith, of Cedar Rapids, Ia. The Christian Science ritual will be used. Burial will be made at Oak Grove cemetery.

SHIPPING SO HEAVY BUSINESS REFUSED

Shipment of 300 Cars from Coast Turned Down to Keep Lines Clear

Possibly the heaviest business that the Burlington railroad has seen in a long time is forcing local officials of the road to drastic measure to obtain enough train crews to keep all trains moving over the road and to keep the local yards passable.

It was reported in the offices on the north this morning that a shipment of three hundred cars from the Pacific coast over the Great Northern railroad at Minneapolis had been refused by the Burlington, due to the fact that Minneapolis yards and yards between that city and Chicago were so crowded that traffic would be blocked.

Potatoes, apples and grains from the west are in the majority of the shipments going east, and while a very large amount of merchandise from the east is going west at this season. Late grain maturity compelled late shipments.

A small wreck on the Burlington at Pepin early Sunday morning tied up traffic for a few hours. A huge freight engine, pulling a heavy train, jumped the track and turned on its side. No one was injured and little damage was done. The train was on a grade at the time of the accident and going at a slow rate of speed.

MILLER FAMILY BACK

CARO MILLER AND HIS DAUGHTERS IN BRAND NEW ACT APPEAR PREPARATORY TO LEAVING FOR ENGLAND

La Crosse friends Sunday welcomed with open arms the return of Mr. Caro Miller and his family to the Majestic for their third appearance in La Crosse. Their act, which has been changed and remodeled, gets over with even more success than when as the "Five Columbians" they surprised and delighted local people with their singing and dancing.

The act was only recently changed, following a serious accident to Mrs. Miller last August in Chicago, when the Columbians were about to enter on their season's work. Mrs. Miller was caught between two street cars, and has been unable to appear since, although she is well enough to travel with her husband and daughters.

The act has discarded its elaborate scenery and fancy costuming, and has a new equipment of songs. That in its new dress the Miller act is a success is evidenced by the fact that they have signed a contract for a tour of England with a big musical revue, in which they will be featured, working with a chorus of sixty people behind them.

Mr. Miller and his family leave for Europe November 15.

SINGERS SEE RESCUE

CARNEGIE, Pa., Oct. 28.—While they sang "Throw Out the Life Line," on the platform of the Pennsylvania railroad depot last midnight, several hundred church goers witnessed a daring rescue. They were singing their farewell to Evangelist M. H. Lyon, who went to Muncie, Ind., and had just reached the chorus when Dr. J. A. Hamma of Carnegie dragged Mrs. J. W. Marshall of Pitsburg from death beneath an eastbound express. She had fallen across the tracks.

CONFESSES KILLING

DENVER, Col., Oct. 28.—James Nelson, alias Frank Allen, who terrorized Denver last week by holding up a score of men and threatening them with death, today confessed that he murdered Thomas J. Chase during a holdup. Chase was shot down "because he didn't hold his hands up fast enough."

MARKET SQUARE

Thomas Hatenbeuhler, Pine Creek, Minn., was slightly injured yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock when a load of hay he was delivering at the residence of Dr. A. Gunderson tipped and he was thrown to the ground and covered with a part of the load. Hatenbeuhler was starting up the incline to the Gunderson barn in the rear of the residence when the load tipped. He is of the opinion that a wheel of the wagon ran up the side of the driveway, throwing the wagon over.

Herman Hoethe, Goose Island, returned to his home yesterday afternoon after disposing of a load of hay at the market in the morning, and visiting friends and transacting business in the city.

R. Hass, St. Joseph's Ridge, disposed of a load of hay at the market yesterday.

H. Koethe, Brownsville Road, sold a load of hay at the market yesterday afternoon, returning to his home.

A large wagon load of hay was sold at the market yesterday by J. Beranek of Stoddard.

A. Beitlicj, Chipmunk Coulee, disposed of a load of barley yesterday morning at the market, returning to his home in the afternoon after transacting business in the morning.

Archdeason Rogers' sister is Mrs. Reid, mother of the child.

REFUSE BACK PAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Claims for back pay and allowance for John W. Espy alias John Esthur, 105 years old, of Little Rock, Ark., for services in the civil and Indian wars, were disallowed today by the treasury department, on the ground that the claimant is a negro or Choctaw Indian, while government records show that the real Esthur was a white man enlisted at Boston.

MRS. EATON HELPS CASE

COURT HOUSE, PLYMONTH, Mass., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton further strengthened the case for the defense during her cross examination by District Attorney Barker today when she declared that she knew Admiral Eaton's income stopped with his death, and said she married him to save his life because he was drinking himself to death in Washington.

FOUR GUNS GOOD

STOCKTON, Cal., Oct. 28—A poker game in the Exchange saloon was raided early today by two masked robbers who announced that they held an unbeatable hand in the shape of four black revolvers. They scooped up $1,000, comprising all the funds of the six players, took three diamond pins worth $1,200 and escaped.

Y. W. C. A. HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The annual Hallowe'en party of the Young Women's Christian association will be held at the association Thursday evening and to the girls of La Crosse, whether members of the association or not, is extended a most cordial invitation to attend. Elaborate plans for the affair are being made by those in charge, and no feature necessary to the correct observance of the occasion will be lacking. Those attending are asked to leave their wraps in the gymnasium, entering the house from the rear. It is expected that many of the guests will come in costume appropriate to the day, and an enjoyable time is promised those present. There will be four fortune tellers present, so every one is assured an opportunity of having their future foretold.

THE PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

Sunday afternoon the Philharmonic orchestra met at the W. B. U. for practice. There are several new members; the second violins have increased to six and a drum, cymbals and second coronet have been added. The orchestra played two of the Henry VIII dances by Edward German, the Calif of Bagdad by A. Boieldieu, Andante from Surprise Symphony of Haydn's. Those have been played at the other meetings and they began practice on the Funeral March of a Marionet, by Gounod. The members show much enthusiasm.

ENTERTAIN ON BIRTHDAY

Mr. George Hicklin was pleasantly surprised and entertained last evening in the apartments of the Naiad club, it being the occasion of his thirty-fourth birthday. A chicken luncheon was hugely enjoyed by those present. The evening was spent playing cards and other amusing games, and all claimed to have had an enjoyable time. The party was arranged by Messrs. E. A. Daniels, W. B. Monti and Joseph Roth, and they are receiving the congratulations of their friends for the excellent manner in which the party was conducted.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE

The fourth annual Hallowe'en dance and party will be given by the students of the Wisconsin Business University Friday evening. Committees on decoration, refreshments and entertainment have been appointed and are already getting busy. This is the biggest affair of the season and the usual large Hallowe'en crowd is expected.

Kreutz will furnish the music and a special program is being arranged. Lunch will be served during the evening; in fact the students are sparing neither time nor expense in making this the "best yet."

A number of old students are coming to the dance to renew old friendship.

Later on the students will give a reunion party and the usual Majestic parties and dances.

YEOMEN TO DANCE

Invitations are out for a pre-Hallowe'en dance at Linker hall to be given by the Yeomen of America on Wednesday. This will be the first of a series.

MRS. BANKER ENTERTAINS

Mrs. John Banker of 1633 Badger street, entertained Wednesday and Saturday afternoon in honor of her mother and sister of Chicago.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

MILWAUKEE FIRE DEATH LIST GROWS

Lieutenant Newton Dies and Pipeman Pagel Is Not Expected to Live

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—The name of Lieut. Charles Newton today was added to the list of Goodyear fire victims and the death toll of the disaster increased to eight. Newton died at the Emergency hospital whither he was taken after being removed from the ruins where he lay, conscious but pinned down, the icy water pouring over him, for more than three hours. His death was due to a fracture of the skull.

Physicians at the hospital expected the death list to be increased by at least one more name within twelve hours. Pipeman August Pagel, they said, was so critically injured he could scarcely be expected to survive another day.

At a meeting of the common council last night, resolutions of sympathy were passed and a searching investigation of the fire recommended.

Probes by the state marshal, district attorney and coroner were to begin today.

MALT PLANT BURNS

WON'T WORK WITH NON-UNION MAN

Because they would not work with a non-union employe, six union plumbers, employes of the Ratz and Marquardt plumbing company walked out of the shop this morning shortly after they came to work.

They made no statement to their employes other than that they would international dry farming congress of the concern by the name of Alex Sheridan left the shop or joined the plumbers' union. It is said they would not return to work when Sheridan offered to agree with their plan either way they wanted. They did not state when they would return.

Organizer John Rae, when interviewed this afternoon said he had not been informed why the men took the action they did.

The union men will hold a meeting tonight at which they will determine what course to take.

CIRCUIT COURT DECISION GOES INTO THE MERITS

tertain a suit for injunction to restrain an alleged interference with the performance of an official duty.

"Without attempting a discussion of that question I am of the opinion that the rule is well settled that it will, providing, of course, that the interference is unlawful and wrongful.

" 'Poyntz et al vs. Schackelford, 54 Southwestern 855. Callahan, as mayor, vs. McGowan and others, police commissioners. 90 Southwestern 319,' and authorties referred to in those cases.

"So the real question is whether the defendant, as mayor, was within his right in giving directions to the plaintiff as chief of police regarding the management of the police department.

"The charter, section2, chapter 3, provides as follows: 'The mayor shall be the chief executive officer and head of the police of the city and head of the fire department, and shall when present, preside over all meetings of the common council, and shall see that the laws of the state and ordinances of the city are duly enforced and observed within the corporate limits of the city, and that all officers of the city discharge their respective duties.'

"The plaintiff contends that this provision was by implication repealed by chapter 247, laws of 1897, providing for a police and fire commission for cities of the third class. And it is upon this contention that the claim is predicted that the acts of the defendant, as mayor, were wrongful and unauthorized. This provision of the charter was not expressly repealed, but if it is inconsistent with the provisions of the act creating the police and fire commission, and if to permit it to stand would prevent giving full effect to all of the purposes contemplated and within the purview of the act creating the police and fire commission, or would hamper or restrict the commission in the exercise of the power given to it, then it was repealed by implication.

"So it will be seen that in order to determine the question of the repeal it is necessary to determine whether the charter provision quoted, in any manner conflicts with the provisions of chapter 247, of the laws of 1897.

"It is agreed that the purpose of chapter 247, was to place the police and fire department under civil service.

"The act (a) takes the appointment and removal of a chief of either department out of the hands of the mayor and council and gives it to a non-partisan commission; (b) requires appointments to the force to be made from a classified list obtained by examinations and free to all, and under rules adopted in advance; (c) makes the tenure of office of persons appointed, to be during good behavior; (d) provides that removals shall be made upon charges preferred and after hearing.

"These constitute all the essential purposes of the act. The other provisions relate to details and methods by which these purposes may be carried into effect.

"No attempt is made to give the police and fire commission any authority to direct, control or manage the police department or its members. Can it be said then that any of these provisions or purposes conflict in any way with the charter quoted, any more than putting the postal employes under the civil service rules conflicted with the powers of the postmaster general or president over the management of the department? I think not, but in addition to this, a very significant act of the legislative intent and understanding of the matter is found in the passage of chapter 586 of the laws of 1913, relative to the board of police and fire commissioners in cities of the first class. Prior to that enactment, Milwaukee had a charter provision similar to that of La Crosse. In this chapter 586, the legislature provided, 'The chief engineer of the fire department and the chief of police of said cities shall be the head of their respective departments, and shall have power to regulate the said departments and prescribe rules for the government of its members.' The fact that the legislature saw fit to enact such a provision in respect to Milwaukee and not in respect to other cities is very persuasive argument to my mind that it was the legislative understanding and intent that without such provision a charter provision providing that the mayor should be the head of the department would remain in force.

"Under general allegations of the complaint it is alleged that the defendant has interfered with plaintiff's control of his subordinates. This is positively denied under oath by the defendant, and he clearly disclaims any right or intention to interfere with the plaintiff's control of his subordinates, and under repeated decisions of our court under such a state of facts, a temporary injunction should be dissolved. But there is probably a further reason why the injunction should be dissolved, and that is, it is alleged in the complaint that the acts of the defendant which are complained of, were performed by him, as mayor, and this action is brought against the defendant individually.

"For these reasons the temporary injunction is vacated and set aside.

"Dated this 28th day of October, 1913. By the Court,
'E. C. HIGBEE,
"Judge."

TAFT AND WILSON HIT FOR ATTITUDE

President of Investment Bankers Denounces "Government Irritation" of Business

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Charging both the Taft and the Wilson administrations with responsibility for the downward course of securities in the last two years, President George B. Caldwell, in his annual address at the opening of the second annual convention of the Investment Bankers' association of America, today denounced what he termed "government irritation" of business.

"The course of the security market simply reflects the disgust of capital because the administration of both Taft and Wilson seemed determined to irritate and regulate business," said Caldwell.

"For instance, no one here believes Atchison common is selling at 90 because about one-half of its mileage is in a section where the corn crop is short. Like all other good stocks and bonds, it is down almost to panic prices because of a belief on the part of the investor that what we shall get will be worse than what we have, and that the corporations, especially the railroads, will not be given in the next three years a square deal."

Caldwell sounded his warning, he said, not in the interest of the "big fellows" but in the interest of the "little fellows" with savings bank deposits.

TO COMPROMISE ON EXPRESS RATE CUT

Railroad Commission to Modify Order to Agree with Interstate Schedules

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Lower express rates are now assured in Wisconsin following a conference of officials of the Wells-Fargo company yesterday afternoon with the attorney general's office and members of the railroad commission. Late last evening the officials appeared in Judge Stevens' court and asked a continuation of the case until Dec. 1, to permit some modification in the schedules, so that the lower schedules may be put into effect. Judge Stevens granted the request.

Will Modify Order.

Under the arrangement agreed at the conference the railroad commission will modify its reduction order so that its schedules will agree with those recently promulgated by the interstate commerce commission. In many instances the rates will be considerably lower than those announced in the original order of the state commission. The interstate commerce commission fixes its rates according to zones. The western zones radiate from Chicago. The first zone of rates which were particularly low, because of the short distance took in the southeastern corner of the state, but not including Milwaukee. This zone has been extended to the northern part of the state under the stipulation made before Judge Stevens and assures four-fifths of the state rates on the whole 25 per cent lower than those now in effect.

New Rates Soon.

Under the new arrangement the railroad commission will issue a supplemental order making new and lower rates for practically every station in the state. This task will occupy two or three weeks. The new schedules are then to go in jointly with the reduction order of the interstate commerce commssion. It is the intention to get the new rates into effect before the Christmas shipments are made.

Early last spring the commission ordered a cut in express rates. The express companies claimed that the rates were ruinous and took the matter to the courts. The case was set for trial Oct. 27, and a few days before Railroad Commissioner Halford Erickson filed an affidavit analyzing the rates in the state, contending that the present rates are higher than those in Iowa, Illinois or Minnesota. Instead of letting the case come to trial the officials of the Wells-Fargo company asked for a conference and agreed to a reduction of rates with modifications.

SENATOR'S NEPHEW IS DEAD ON TRAIN

Isaac Stephenson, Jr., Dies Enroute to Milwaukee from Chicago

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—Isaac Stephenson, Jr., of Marinette, Wis., a nephew of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson, was found dead on a Chicago & Northwestern train here today. Stephenson held a ticket from Chicago to Milwaukee. When the train reached here a brakeman who thought Stephenson asleep, tried in vain to arouse him. He was removed to the Emergency hospital, where it was found he had been dead for more than an hour.

The body was identified by means of papers found in the dead man's pockets.

Physicians at the hospital said heart failure probably was the cause of death.

ASKS PROTECTION AFTER ARREST OF HIS COMPANION

to be adhered to, to the very letter, and Uncle Sam, and not any power which feels itself aggrieved, is to constitute the police power on this side of the world.

That is the interpretation placed today on President Wilson's significant utterances in Philadelphia, at Swarthmore and again at Mobile. The president also, it is admitted, has cleared the way for any action he may desire to take in restoring order in Mexico.

The president has opposed armed intervention. Only the active interference of some European power or a series of outrages against Americans or foreigners will force his hand.

Having exhausted every possible means of bringing the warring factions in Mexico together and having openly proclaimed that under no circumstances will this government seize any Mexican territory, it is admitted that President Wilson is today in such a position that if he must use force he will have the support of all parties in the senate and the house.

Advices received here today indicate that an attempt may yet be made to declare Frederico Gamboa president-elect and General Blanquet vice president of Mexico. Gamboa had the passive support of Huerta.

May Name Gamboa

Should Huerta adhere to his position and insist that the ballots cast for him be null and void there exists a bare possibility that Gamboa will have a majority over the remaining candidates. Then it would be possible for the incoming congress, which will be absolutely dominated by Huerta, to declare Gamboa elected. The Blanquet votes are not necessarily void. Under the constitution he had the right to be a candidate for vice president. Thus if Huerta so desires congress could declare Gamboa and Blanquet legally elected president and vice president of Mexico.

The navy department today received wireless confirmation from Admiral Fletcher that General Diaz and his three companions are on board the Wheeling in Vera Cruz harbor. Fletcher asked instructions regarding his future action.

General Diaz will not be surrendered to the Mexican authorities. This was made certain this afternoon when Secretary of State Bryan through the navy department requested Admiral Fletcher to find out from Diaz where he desired to go. He will be taken to some neutral point on an American warship so that he can seek permanent asylum without molestation by his former close friend, Provisional President Huerta.

Fears that armed intervention in Mexico is well-nigh inevitable permeated ofncial Washington this afternoon. The developments at Vera Cruz where Diaz, his two companions and an American newspaper correspondent had to flee the city under cover of darkness, with reports of an increasing anti-American feeling throughout the Mexican state dominated by Huerta, have admittedly complicated an already serious situation. Huerta is expected to demand that at least the Mexicans be turned over to him. This will not be done.

Like Wilson Statement

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—Mexicans as well as foreigners here today expressed satisfaction with the utterances of President Wilson at Mobile. Some of the foreigners held the view that the American president meant his remarks about the United States never acquiring more territory by conquest, as an intimation that the United States is about to take a hand in Mexico, but would certainly withdraw as soon as law and order is restored.

The capital is filled with conflicting rumors, but there are few known facts on which to base them. General Huerta issued a statement that it would be a month before all official election returns are in. Others thought it would be only a week or ten days. Some say that if the congress should declare the election legal and Huerta keep his word not to accept the presidency, General Felix Diaz would be president.

Huerta and Blanquet received the highest votes, according to the partial returns received up to today. Diaz and Requene came next in number of votes.

MARTIAL LAW IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Colorado Militia Called Out as Peace Move Has Opposite Effect

LUDLOW, Col., Oct. 28.—With a battle between strikers and mine guards raging at Berwind, Hastings and Delagua coal camps, near here since daylight, it was found today that the arrival of the national guardsmen ordered out by Governor Ammons shortly after midnight, would result in a clash far more serious than any that has occurred since the coal strike in southern Colorado began. At 10 a. m. the tent camp here was filled with rumors of fatalities, but none could be confirmed. The only known casualty resulting from today's fighting at this hour is that of a striker who was shot through the leg.

Word that Governor Ammons had called out the troops reached here at 2 a. m., and caused intense excitement. Hot heads among the strikers saw in this move defeat for their fight and openly advocated defying the militia and burning the mine buildings throughout the coal field.

At daybreak the fighting began simultaneously at Berwind and Hastings, when the strikers opened fire on the mine guards, who are practically besieged. At the safe time, a force of miners marched against Delagua, nearby and opened fire there. The guards at Berwind and Hastings replied to the fire with machine guns but the range was evidently too long for much execution.

The troops are expected to reach here at noon and it is questionable what their arrival will bring. Union officials here are urging the strikers to disarm voluntarily before the troops arrive but many of the men are inclined to be sullen.

FEAR FOR FLEET ON LAKE IN GALE

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 28.—Anxiety was felt today for the safety of a fleet of small boats which put out from here yesterday, north bound, before the posting by the United States weather bureau of storm warnings. Warnings of a northwesterly storm were posted today at all Superior lake ports. Thirty-five vessels remained at anchor today on account of the storm warning, and wireless messages picked up said that the storm had broken at the Canadian Soo.

PANKHURST GETS $400

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, British suffragette leader, accompanied by her manager, Miss Joan Wickman, left here today for Dayton, where she will speak tonight. She took along some $400 for the "cause." Half of this amount was her share of last night's lecture receipts and the rest was contributed by the audience.

Eczema Is Only Skin Deep

Proven by D. D. D.

A few skin troubles originate in the blood. But very few. Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health and a famous writer on medical subjects, says:

"We shall begin to make headway with skin disease when we learn two things: first that skin disease does not come from impure blood; second, that so-called blood purifiers have no such action."

Get busy then and clear up your skin. Stop that itching and burning. Drive out those pimples.

Make up your mind to start now and give yourself a smooth, velvet complexion.

You can do it with the aid of the wonderful D. D. D. prescription—a cooling, refreshing lotion—not a salve or grease—it soothes your tender skin, opens the pores, drives out the old impurities and gives you a skin like a baby, smooth and clear.

All druggists have D. D. D. We sell it on a positive no-pay guarantee. You don't risk a cent. Don't suffer another day. Call at our store today. Ask also about D. D. D. Soap—best for tender skin.

UPON MY WORD

I'LL TELL YOU A STORY—ONLY THIS IS A TRUE STORY

You may be one of the many who are being told that Evenson cannot grind lenses accurately; that he cannot duplicate a broken lens, by merely having the broken pieces, without the prescription, and are permitting your Oculist or Optician to send to Chicago for your glasses. This adds to their cost, and makes you wait several days.—I want a chance to prove that I can grind lenses accurately while you wait.—Give me this chance. Will you? Bring or send me the broken pieces. My grinding plant is complete, Chicago has no better, only larger capacity.

If your doctor examines your eyes and prescribes new glasses, bring or send the prescription to me. I'll save you some more money. I'll make you a better fitting frame, because I have the stock here to do it with. If he examines your eyes "FREE" you save some more money, because nobody gives away a valuable service, and if his examination is worth anything and you are not charged for it, he figures to have you pay for it in the price of his glasses. This holds for all. Prove it. TRY TO GET HIM TO GIVE YOU THE PRESCRIPTION, WITHOUT SELLING YOU THE GLASSES.

I want to examine your eyes; fit them with glasses, (if you need them) and will charge you $1.50 for my $1.50 glasses, $8.00 for my $8.00 glasses, but I want you satisfied. It is the satisfied folks that keep my grinding plant going all day long.—I am willing to run it all night.—If you cannot get away day times, come at night. The examination is made by lamp light either day or night. I'll correct your eye troubles with correct glasses. If the prominent folks' judgment can be relied upon, I must be a competent refractionist. They get their glasses here.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A BASHFUL COUPLE

By DON LA GRANGE

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"It is too bad!"

Over and over again, times without number, the wives of farmers Cantbury and Johnson had closed a conversation with a sigh and the above expression.

"It is too dinged bad!"

And times without number the respective husbands of these good wives had done the very same thing.

The Cantburys and the Johnsons had been friends and neighbors for forty years, and there had never been a disagreement.

The Cantburys had a son named Abel. He had been named after the young man who was killed by his brother Cain. Father and mother hadn't stopped to inquire into the details of the row, and for all they knew Abel deserved the killing he got, but they nailed the name to that helpless boy baby.

The Johnsons had a daughter named Rebecca. She had been named after a picture entitled "Rebecca at the Well." Why Rebecca was at the well instead of in the kitchen made no difference to the namers. The young woman looked good to them, and as the baby happened to be born in corn-planting time when everybody was on the hustle, no time was lost in making a second Rebecca of her.

It cannot be said that the results in both cases were what might have been expected. Both boy and girl grew up so retiring and bashful that their days were positively painful. They hardly dared to enter into conversation with their own parents. If one outside the family came to the house the children would find a hiding place upstairs under a bed. There was no sending them to school, and they would run like rabbits at sight of each other.

"I'll lick it out of Abel or take all his hide off!" vowed farmer Cantbury; and he licked and licked and licked, but the more he licked the worse the boy got.

"What'll cure Rebecca is a good spanking every time she plays the fool!" said Mrs. Johnson.

When a doctor was consulted in both cases he replied: "I don't see that anything can be done. There are forward children and there must be backward children to offset them and balance things. You'll have to make the best of the matter."

The pastor of the church at the crossroads was consulted. "No, I can't say that it is on account of giving them Biblical names. They just happen to be born that way. You might ease off a little on the lickings and spanking and hope for something to happen."

An old man who tramped the country with a peddler's pack and doctored sick cows was asked for his advice, and he gave it: "Dog gone it, if there is a bashful boy or girl in America why can't you let 'em stay bashful!"

He was told how wretched the situation was for both parents and children, and he thought for a while and then replied:

"My great hold is doctoring sick cows, but mebbe I can prescribe a cure in this case. Tie 'em up so they can't get away and then invite about a dozen people in to talk to 'em."

The prescription looked good and was tried. Abel very promptly had a fit and did not recover from it for two hours. Rebecca very promptly fainted and lay as one dead for half a day.

The most sensible advice given, and the one followed, was tendered by an agent who came along selling a patent potato digger. As he drove up to Cantbury's Abel made a break for the woods, half a mile away, and as he arrived at Johnson's Rebecca made for the garret.

"Seem to be afraid I've got the smallpox."

Thereupon the agent was put in possession of particulars, and he answered: "You let 'em be. It's something they can't help, and they've got to wait till the cure comes along."

"Bound to be, but I ain't giving no medical advice. I'm selling the Knee Plus E Pluribus Potato Digger, which any child can use, and which is warranted to do the work of four husky men and not half try. Sold again, and who takes the next?"

Years passed and Abel Cantbury reached his majority, and Rebecca had her nineteenth birthday.

Only a bit of the bashfulness had worn off. Neither party had spoken to the other. Abel had become a farmer, and his father had become too old for hard work.

"If Abel and Rebecca would only fall in love and marry!" was repeated so often that it became a wail, but it seemed like waiting for the moon to turn to a cheese. One day the father said to Abel: "My son, you should have a wife."

It was at the dinner table, and the young man was so confused that he choked on a piece of corned beef.

"Why not marry Rebecca?"

It was winter and very cold, and the young man's ears were frostbitten as he sat on the fence.

And the mother of Rebecca said to her.

"Rebecca, your father and I are very anxious about your future."

The girl looked up in a startled way.

"We want to see you married and settled down."

"M-mother!"

"It would bring joy to our hearts if you and Abel were to marry."

With a half scream the girl fled out into the night.

What the father of Abel said to the mother was: "If I was twenty years younger I'd hang that idiot's hide on the fence to dry."

And what the mother of Rebecca said to the father was: "There it is, you see. She's got too big to be spanked, and will you tell me what is to be done with her?"

"That potato digger man said there was a cure."

"Then I hope it will come along before we are both dead."

It was coming, but it was not for mortals to know in advance just in what shape. There came a day in May when Abel looked up from his work in the field to notice two tramps turning in at the Johnson gate. Two hours before he had seen the old man and his wife ride away to spend the day with a relatives. This would leave Rebecca alone.

There was an appeal here never made before. Almost before he was aware of the fact the young man was walking toward Johnson's at a fast pace. It was increased to a run when he saw the tramps running away and heard screams. He dashed into the house and called for Rebecca. That was the first time he had ever pronounced her name aloud. Repeating the name every two or three seconds, and amazed at his own temerity, he ran upstairs and down cellar and then out to the well.

It was an old oaken bucket well, and it was seen at a glance that the curb had been partly displaced. Down on his knees on the platform went Abel to peer into the semi-darkness.

"Rebecca, are you down there?"

"Oh, Abel," floated up a wail from the depth of thirty feet.

The cure had begun to work. The excited young man did just what he ought to have done. In scrambling around he fell into the yawning hole and brought up with a plump and a smash beside Rebecca.

"Gosh hang it!" he sputtered.

"The tramps, Abel!"

"They have gone. How did you come down here?"

"They c-chased me and I jumped! I s-screamed for you first."

"I heard you. Why, Rebecca, do you know we are talking to each other?"

"I could talk to you for an hour."

"I hope you will!"

"It's cold down here, and I don't know how we are going to get out; but I must tell you, Rebecca, that I love you!"

"And I'm so glad, Abel!"

After two hours of courtship they were drawn to the surface. They were wet, but they were joyous. They were cold, but they were happy. And as they stood shivering and smiling the agent of the Knee Plus Potato Digger came along and grinned, and waved a hand and called:

"I told 'em to let you alone and the cure would come, and now, by jinks, it has!"

HATPIN WOUND FATAL

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—John Niemin, who died of blood poisoning at the county hospital today, confessed, the police say, that Mrs. Joseph Karmuenisk stabbed him with a hatpin when he tried to hold her up several nights ago, and that the hatpin wound caused his death.

SEIZE $600 PLUMES

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Miss Edna McLaughlin today had few good words for the new tariff law and was mourning the loss of four aigrettes and a bird of paradise plume, valued at $600. When she arrived from Europe, the millinery decorations were seized by the customs inspectors in accordance with the new law and undoubtedly will be consigned to the furnace.

MAY RESTRICT BICHLORIDE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Congressional action to restrict or safeguard the sale of bichloride of mercury tablets is strongly urged in a letter received by Congressman Calder of New York from Coroner Feinberg of New York.

What So Precious As a Healthy Baby?

Every Youngster Can Have Fine Digestion if Given a Good Baby Laxative

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But, as we cannot all have perfect working bowels, we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-tonic very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect, and genuinely harmless. very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. James R. Rouse of Marinette, Wis. Her little son Howard was fifteen months old last April, but he was sick with bowel trouble from birth and suffered intensely. Since Mrs. Rouse has been giving him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin all trouble has disappeared and the boy is becoming robust.

Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Following a monster torchlight parade in which the Mackmen will be escorted to the banquet hall a big dinner will be served at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

BLONDE LIKES SPEECH

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 28.—Clerk Thomas K. Hughes of the district court, today found a box of cigars on his desk, with a card reading: "From a Blonde," because he made the following statement in an after dinner speech: "Brunettes, in nearly every instance, are the 'reason' why men leave home. In examining our court records I find that only five per cent of the affinities have been blondes."

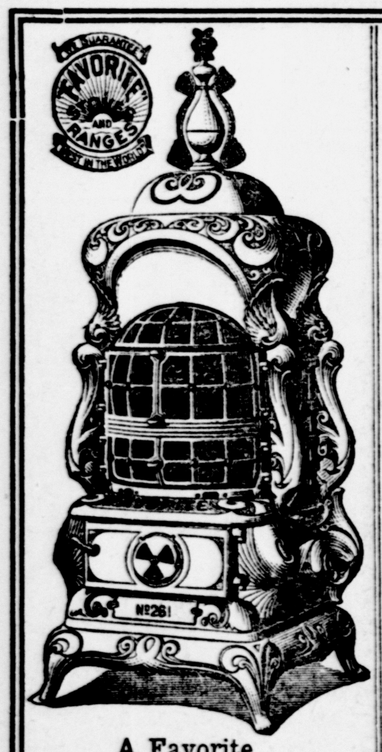

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Ladies! Men! Here's the the quickest, surest dandruff cure known.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight — now — anytime—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after pust a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

DEFENSE OPENS IN BEILIS CASE

Prosecution Closes Without Producing Much Evidence Against Prisoner

KIEFF, Russia, Oct. 28.—The defense of Mendel Beilis, the Jew charged with the ritual murder of a Christian boy, Andrew Yushinsky, which began today, was expected to bring out few new facts. The prosecution, which rested last night, produced little evidence against Beilis, most of the testimony being in his defense, in that the government's witnesses accused Vera Cheberyak and the Cheberyak gang of murdering the boy.

Rudzinsky and the other convicts accused by Krassovsky, who were brought from Siberia to testify, stoutly denied that they knew anything about the murder or had ever admitted they did. Their testimony with that of Colivanoff of the Kieff police, concluded the prosecution's case.

CUBA WANTS CHANGE

MORE ADVANTAGEOUS ARRANGEMENT OF RECIPROCITY TREATY IS DESIRED

HAVANA, Oct. 28. — Colonel Cosme De La Torriente, Cuban secretary of state, and Dr. Pablo Desvernine, minister to the United States, today were preparing to leave for Washington on a special mission.

They were appointed by President Menocal ostensibly to repay the visit of Former Secretary of State Knox to Cuba, but their real mission is to attempt to obtain the consent of the United Staes to such alterations of the reciprocity treaty between the countries as will enable Cuba to make up the financial deficit created by the free listing of sugar by the Underwood-Simmons tariff. President Menocal wants the United States to agree to a change of the agreement on tobacco that will give Cuba greater benefit.

CLAIMS IGNORANCE OF FUNK CHARGES

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Josephine Henning, whose confession that she was the tool in the plot to "get" Clarence S. Funk made her the principal witness for the state in the trial of two of the alleged conspirators, faced a merciless cross-examination, composed and apparently positive of her facts.

Assistant State's Attorney Bell submitted to Mrs. Henning a closely typed document and she identified the signature as her own. Bell then read the document, which purported to be a statement by Mrs. Henning regarding her alleged misconduct with Funk.

"Did you ever see that statement before?" asked Bell.

"I signed a statement in Attorney Donahoe's office," responded the witness. "But I certainly did not know that it contained such false accusations as that."

FINDS AND SINKS HULK OF VOLTURNO

LIZARD, Eng., Oct. 28.—The burned steamship Volturno was sunk on October 17, according to the steamer Charlois from Sabine Pass, which passed here today. The captain of the Charlois said his men boarded the Volturno on that day, finding the fire entirely out. They saw the bodies of several dead on the deck and in the engine room. The interior of the vessel was entirely burned out and when the Charlois' men left they opened the valves and saw the hulk sink.

BREAKS A COLD NEEDS NO HELP

SCORES MODERN IDEAS

ARCHBISHOP KEANE OF DUBUQUE SLAMS EUGENIC LAWS AND FAVORS SEGREGATION OF VICE

PITTSBURG, Oct. 28.—Colonel ther attacks upon modern ideas are expected tonight, when Archbishop James John Keane of Dubuque, Ia., delivers the second of his lectures to non-Catholics in this city.

The archbishop aroused much discussion of the new marriage laws by asserting that many doctors might prevent the object of eugenics by handing out health certificates indiscriminately. He also went on record against sex hygiene instruction, asserting that it disturbs children's minds, and in favor of segregation of vice, saying that segregation makes control easier.

ASK QUASHING OF THAW INDICTMENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Notice of a forthcoming motion to quash the conspiracy indictment against Harry K. Thaw was filed before Justice Gavegan by counsel for the escaped Matteawan prisoner.

The motion will be filed when the Thaw indictment comes before Justice Gavegan on Thursday. It will be based on two contentions, that Thaw is legally insane in New York state and therefore cannot be indicted and charged with crime; and that as Thaw was not in New York county before or after his escape, he could not be guilty of conspiracy here.

"YOU'RE ANOTHER" SAYS MR. SULZER

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—William Sulzer, answering the cry of "liar" hurled at him by Allan Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan, in a statement formally assigned Ryan to full and complete membership in the Ananias club.

"Murphy and Ryan could not use me," said Sulzer, and intimated that Ryan's giving $10,000 for his campaign was simply a Murphy plan to "get something on him."

Owes His Life To This Lung Remedy

If you neglect a continued cough or cold, you are in constant danger of easily contracting serious Lung Trouble. The cough or cold which does not yield to ordinary treatment should be a warning to you and preventive measures should be taken as soon as possible. In many cases Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, has brought permanent recovery. Read this:—

Catherine Ave. and Ascot Place.
Queens Court, L. I., N. Y.

"Gentlemen:—In the year 1908 I was taken with a heavy cold and a nasty short cough. I went to several doctors who gave me a lot of medicine. Finally, I went to a specialist who gave me creosote that made me sick of all kinds of food; consequently I failed in health. I then went to the Catskills, and seemed to get better, but the cough still kept up. I stayed there for one year, and then went to a farm near Jersey City, a very sick man. About the time of my return, my brother recommended Eckman's Alterative to me very highly. It is now nearly two years since I first took it. I am now well, and I dare say that I would not have been buried long ago if it had not been for Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit).
JOSEPH J. TROESCHER.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by Geo. E. Marines, Chas. E. Beyschlag, and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

All crushed rock to be weighed, 2500 pounds to constitute a yard.

Quarried rock to be piled at places designated in piles not less than 4 feet in height and in width either 8, 16 or 24 feet.

All quarried rock to be delivered on or before April 1, 1914.

Crushed rock to be delivered as ordered.

Successful bidders will be required to furnish bonds in a sum equal to one-half the amount of the contract.

The committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids should cover both quarried and crushed rock, so separated that the committee may select.

For further particulars address John Hintgen, County Commissioner, La Crosse.

PROF.'S BLUFF GOOD

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 28.—"I know the man who cheated in this examination and I want him to come to me privately and confess," Professor Walter Dill Scott told his class in psychology at Northwestern university. Today twelve members of the class had visited the professor's study, begging forgiveness, and he had made several more engagements over the telephone.

GOPHER PUBLISHER DIES

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 28.—William A. Newton, for fifty-one years a resident of Minneapolis and one of the publishers of first newspapers in this city, died at his home here on Monday.

Better Dumplings

Occasionally, even the best cooks have difficulty in making light, delicate dumplings and steamed or boiled puddings.

Not from lack of skill, but from the failure of the baking powder to properly do its work.

Because it raises at just the right time and in just the right manner, you can always depend on

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—A cable that failed to respond to yesterday's local advance in wheat caused a reversal in the upward tendency here today. December opened a fraction easier and declined steadily ½c during the forenoon. May decline was the same.

Corn started lower with wheat, but responded to unsettled weather, and December and May closed the forenoon session at the opening prices.

With no supporting factors, oats moved with wheat, opening easier and declining ⅝c for December and ½c for May.

Provisions were sold freely, but offerings were readily absorbed and prices were steady.

Wheat braced during the afternoon and closed ⅛c down for December and ¼c down for May.

Corn advanced slightly, December closing ⅜c higher and May ¼c higher.

Oats rose with wheat and closed ⅜c down for December and ⅛c down for May.

ARREST PREACHER FOR PISTOL TOTING

HAYNES, N. D., Oct. 28.—Rev. Frank P. Powley, a local clergyman, was held for trial today on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He is accused of drawing a revolver when, with Constable Due, he attempted to arrest Howard Cook, charged with assault and battery, on a John Doe warrant, and met the resistance of Walter Roozem, employer of Cook, who contended the warrant was insufficient.

CANNIBALISM IS HOG CHOLERA CURE

LUVERNE, Minn., Oct. 28.—The feeding of the roasted carcasses of diseased hogs to the remainder of the herd has proved in every instance, a successful remedy against hog cholera, according to farmers that have tried it in Rock county this fall. This is the experience of W. A. Johnson, A. W. Scott, John Jones and T. O. Tollefson, all reliable men.

BIG STORE BURNS

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 28.—The Douglas department store was entirely destroyed by fire this morning with a loss of $130,000. The stock, valued at $30,000, was a total loss. None was injured.

CRIPPLES WORK OUT PLAYS IN HOSPITAL

Yale Coach Has New Idea to Keep His Injured Men Up-to-date

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 28.—Coach Howard Jones has adopted a scheme of keeping the cripples of the Yale squad up to date in the work of the team, which has proved successful when the men have returned to practice. Fifteen players are now on the injured list and Jones sends a diagram of all new plays to the hospital where the cripples work out the formations with pencil and paper.

Further shifts in the Yale lineup are being advised today. Cooney will go to center and Marting may be made a substitute or assigned to another line position. The rest of the line will be shaken up from end to end.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 28.—C. C. Felton, a brother of the famous Sam Felton, appeared for practice with the Harvard football squad today. The coaches will start right in making a kicker out of Felton. New formations explained during the blackboard drills yesterday were tried out today.

ROLLA, Mo., Oct. 28.—Heavy snow on the gridiron forced Coach McCleary to give his undefeated Missouri Miners a workout in the gym yesterday but he planned to have the field cleared this afternoon so that the miners could get in some stiff practice for Saturday's game at Missouri university.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 28.—Capt. Wallace Hardaway, Washington university quarter, who has been out of the game since the Ames fracas ten days ago, limped out to practice today. Weir, a guard of last year, also joined the team today and will be used against Drake Saturday.

ONALASKA, WIS.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller and daughter returned Sunday evening from a few days' visit with friends at Milwaukee.

Edwin Johnson, who has had charge of the salting station at Black River Falls, has completed his summer's work there and returned to this city Thursday.

Miss May Boyer returned Friday morning from Chicago, where she visited a few days with relatives.

Maurice Johnson arrived Friday from New Rockford, N. D., where he has been employed the past summer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Milbright departed Sunday evening for their home in Spokane, Wash., after spending about six weeks here with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Erick Mikkelson have returned from Miles City, Mont., where Mr. Mikkelson has taken up a claim. Both are very favorably impressed with that country.

Mrs. B. S. Shove has returned from Sparta, where she was called on account of the serious illness of a relative.

Miss Agnes Olson of Holmen spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. B. Olson.

A large number of hunters from Onalaska invaded Rice Lake and that vicinity early Sunday morning, where they say a large number of ducks are hanging out.

The Mystic Workers will give their annual dance at the Woodman hall Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Aldrich of Trempealeau spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. T. A. Moran.

Mrs. R. R. Mathison and mother, Mrs. Josephine Pooler, are spending the week with relatives at Coon Valley.

The first social function of the year at the high school took place Friday evening when the juniors entertained the senior class at a Hallowe'en party. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion.

BUREAU CAN'T PAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Tuition for Indian children in California cannot be paid by the Indian bureau, according to a decision of the comptroller of the treasury today.

FOR MEN 999! WHAT?

Daily University Bulletin

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 28.—Not only experiments but experience proves that there are extensive tracts of clay and clay loam lands in Wisconsin which are well adapted to wheat raising and upon which, under proper systems of fertilization and rotation, this important cereal can be successfully and profitably grown.

This is the conclusion of E. J. Delwiche and B. D. Leith of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin who, with other experiments and practical growers for six successive seasons, carried on experiments in different sections of the state to determine, if possible, how increased yields of superior wheat might be produced. The results of their findings are given in a bulletin entitled "Wheat Growing in Wisconsin," which residents of the state, who are interested in wheat raising, may secure.

In spite of the adaptability of its soil and climate to the profitable production of wheat of superior quality, Wisconsin has steadily declined as a wheat producing state. Whereas 50 years ago it stood second among the wheat producing states, it ranks but 26th today.

Faulty systems of farming, the rapid expansion of the dairy industry, advance in the cost of land and a falling off in the prices paid for wheat, are among the main causes given for Wisconsin's loss of prestige in wheat production. While it is doubtful if Wisconsin will ever regain her former rank as a wheat producing state, conditions seem favorable for this great cereal to become, like barley, a staple crop in this state. Wisconsin has a climate favorable for the growth of wheat of excellent quality; wheat pests are well under control, and more farmers knok how to farm without robbing the soil of its fertlity.

Among the best wheat regions of Wisconsin are portions of the Lake Superior country, clay sections near Lakes Winnebago and Michigan, and clay districts in northwestern, central and southern Wisconsin.

WANTS DELAY IN OLYMPIC GAMES

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—Urging that the opening of the Olympic games in Berlin in 1916 be postponed for at least one week, James E. Sullivan, American Olympic commissioner, today planned to cable the German Olympic committee immediately. The action of the German authorities in setting July 1 as the date for the first track and field events will prove a handicap for the American team, according to Sullivan. Most of the team will be recruited from the colleges, but should the games open on July 1 it would be necessary for the team to sail before school year is ended.

WINNER MEETS KILBANE

RACINE, Wis., Oct. 28.—Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, will meet the winner of the bout here tonight between Mattie McCue, local scrapper, and Cal Delaney of Cleveland, a protege of Kilbane. The fighters were to weigh in at 125 pounds this afternoon.

STATE PIN MEET TO BE IN MADISON

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—President Joe Mitchell of Madison, Ed. Straub of Cedarburg, Max Lau of Racine, F. Olie of Sheboygan and Ed. Schmidt of Juneau settled the routine business of the Wisconsin Bowling association at a meeting held on Saturday afternoon.

January 14 was set for the date to close the entries and Jan. 23 was set for the opening date of the Madison tournament.

LANGFORD DASHES HOPE

TAFT, Cal., Oct. 28.—Sam Langford, the Boston tar baby, knocked out Jack Lester, the Northwestern white hope, in the fourth round yesterday afternoon. The finish came after Langford had toyed with his man from the first period at all times having him at his mercy.

ZANDERS LASTS BUT FOUR ROUNDS

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—Ernie Zanders of Chicago, had to read the papers this morning to find out how his fight with Gus Christie last night came out. Ernie's jaw collided with a right cross at the beginning of the fourth round and he did not remember anything for forty minutes. When he "came to" he could not remember the fight.

WALSH TO START EARLY

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Ed Walsh will precede the White Sox to spring training camp at Paso Robles, Cal., by at least two weeks, Owner Comiskey announced today and make an effort to get into shape before the main squad arrives. Similar treatment worked wonders with Jim Scott, who pitched great ball for the Sox this year.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN A GOOD RANGE?

If so, a visit to our store tomorrow will repay you. A special factory representative will be here Wednesday, Oct. 29, for

A SPECIAL DEMONSTRATION

OF THE

MONARCH MALLEABLE RANGE

WE WANT TO SHOW YOU

First: How little fuel the Monarch will consume in doing your work.

Second: How quickly it gives your baking an even heat—how quickly the entire top becomes piping hot.

Third: How easily the Monarch can be kept looking like new, without polish and polishing.

Fourth: Why the Monarch keeps giving just as good service after ten, fifteen or twenty years as when new.

Fifth: Why, with all its advantages, the price of the Monarch is but little above the ordinary range.

Then you'll know you can't afford not to have a Monarch.

Come in and See the Monarch—No matter what kind of a range you are using, no matter whether it's old or new—see the Monarch. No obligations incurred. We're glad to show it.

WALTER MILLER TO MEET MIKE YOKEL

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 28.—Walter Miller, the local middleweight wrestler, is to meet Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City at the Auditorium in St. Paul on November 11 if the big building can be obtained for that date.

Miller received a wire from Yokel accepting his challenge recently made. Yokel is to wrestle Carr of Minneapolis in Minneapolis November 5 and will take on the local grappler before he returns to his home in the west.

Yokel beat Miller for the middleweight title in Duluth last winter. Yokel has beaten Gehring of Cleveland and is at present the acknowledged middleweight champion.

DIAZ GOT 100 AT BORDER

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Oct. 28.—General Felix Diaz received about 100 votes in the Mexican presidential election at Piedras Negras. Huerta received about 2,200 votes.

BELOIT FOOTBALL PLAYER RECOVERS

APPLETON, Wis., Oct. 28.—The condition of Horace Wilcox of Charlotte, Mich., a Beloit junior, who had his kidney ruptured in the Beloit-Lawrence game Saturday, is improved. It is said the only danger now is that a blood clot may form. At the time of the accident Wilcox was going down the field under the punt from his own side and was blocked by a Lawrence player.
